8. Collection Strategy Evaluation Method:

Development efforts proceed on a Collection Strategy Evaluation Method (CSEM) utilizing the Future Intelligence Requirements Forecast (FIRF). Its purpose, in response to DCI tasking, is to assist senior Community managers in assimilating information relevant to evaluating alternative mixes of collection systems and activities and assessing overall progress toward meeting collection needs. The computer processing logic developed for the model is being refined. CIA's Office of Information Technology has reviewed the CSEM concept and is preparing a statement defining the system requirements to achieve a prototype model. [redacted]
